

Directions to meeting location for tandem flights at Lookout Mountain in Golden, CO:

To begin, find Golden Colorado and determine how to best get there from your location. The following may help you. Golden sits against the foothills, northwest of Denver and north of I 70. A drawing of a glider marks the meeting spot on the map below.

From Boulder:

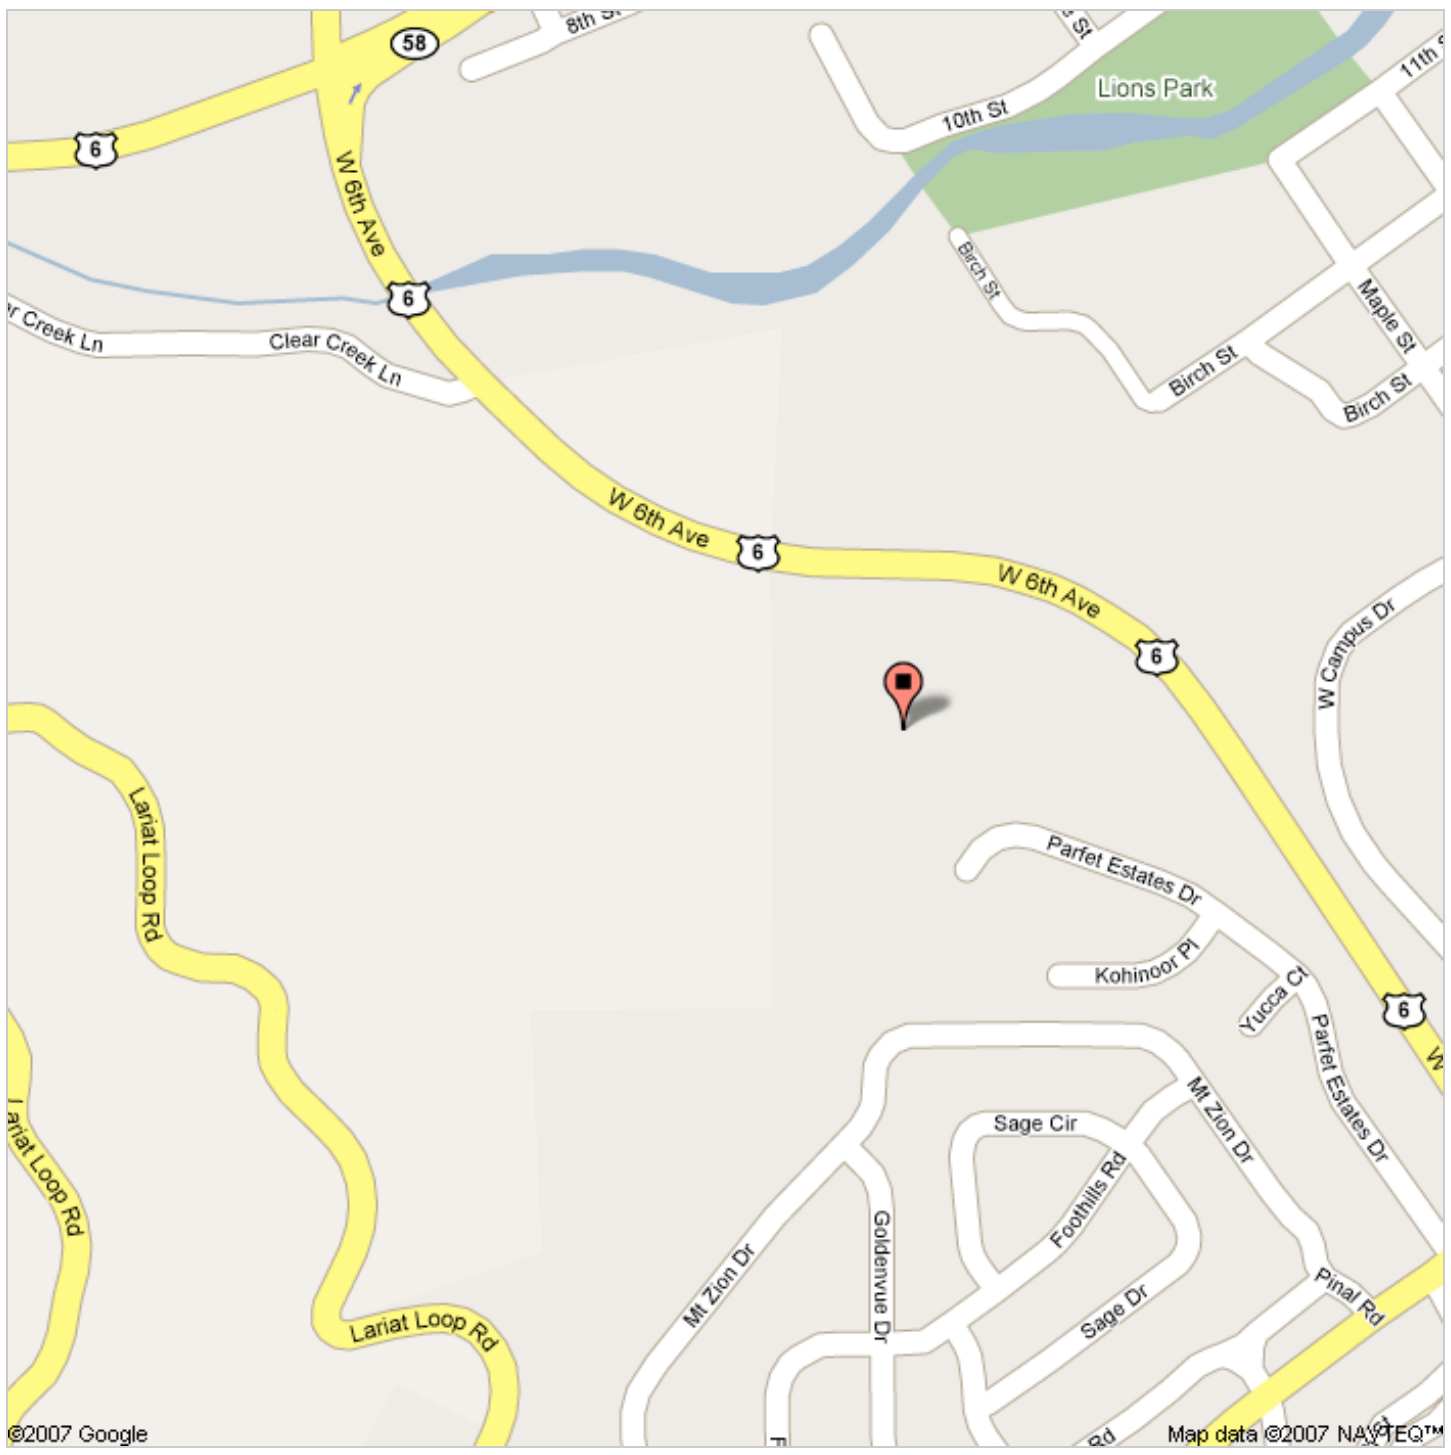

Take Hwy 93 south past Clear Creek Canyon (Hwy 6). About ¼ mile south of this intersection, there is a pull off along the road by a field with a windsock on the west side of the road. (If you reach Lookout Mtn. Road, you've already passed the pull-off). This pull-off is where we'll meet at your designated time.

From the South:

If you are coming from the south, you'll want to take 6th Avenue exit from C-470. Go north on 6th Avenue toward Golden. You will pass an intersection at the light of Lookout Mtn. Road. There is a pull-off west of the road just north of this intersection. This parking area/pull off is where we meet. However, you cannot make a left turn from the Highway (6th Avenue) into this area (illegal turn). So go to the first left turn lane and turn around to return to the meeting spot. We meet a little south of the windsock in the parking area.

From Denver:

Check a map or internet directions for the fastest way to Golden from your current location. Take 6th Avenue to the parking area between Lookout Mtn. Road and the intersection of Hwy. 93 and Hwy 6 (Clear Creek Canyon). The pull-off on the west side of the road half way between these intersections is our meeting spot. However, if you are coming from the south, you cannot make a left turn from the Highway (6th Avenue) into this parking area (illegal turn). So go to the first left turn lane and turn around to return to the meeting spot. We meet a little south of the windsock in the parking area.
